

Christmas Time at Cochrane's

Here you find Mother buying that Fountain Pen for Father, and Father looking over the numerous gifts for Mother. Sister trying to select something from such a varied stock for Brother, or maybe not for Brother, and the Children more than contented with wares of Santa Claus. Surely you are bound to recognize the place that draws all the family for Christmas.

"How to sell Underwear in 4 Lessons"

"You sell so much more men's underwear than any other store in the city I'd like to know how you do it," said a customer the other day.

"easy," we replied—only 4 lessons to learn.

- No. 1—Carry the best underwear you can buy.
- No. 2—Know how to fit every man who walks or phones to your store.
- No. 3—Keep plenty of stock, especially in November.
- No. 4—Be satisfied to take less profit per sale than your competitor.

WORLD'S RECORD ORANGE

GROWN BY W. G. TILGHMAN

W. G. Tilghman brought to the News office yesterday afternoon three oranges, one of which, we believe, is the largest orange ever grown. It is almost as large as a football, and Mr. Tilghman could not begin to get it in his pocket where he very often carries a saw, a hatchet, an axe and a few brick. The other two oranges were almost as large, and all grew on the same tree, which was literally white with bloom.

THREE ACT PLAYS WILL BE HISTORIC DELIGHT

The rehearsals for the three one act plays to be presented Thursday evening in the high school auditorium by Palatka Community Service are progressing nicely. Under the efficient coaching of Miss Pauline Oak, the local people comprising the different casts are beginning to assume almost professional proficiency in the rare art of acting.

The characters in "The Neighbors" that play so true to life, portray to perfection, the various inhabitants of a gossip rural community. There is grandma with her carpet rags, arguing that "folks is folks, regardless" and we see Peter the typical rustic swain making love to Inez in his awkward way.

Then in the "Florist Shop," the second play of the evening, we see the grasping big city proprietor of Jewish persuasion, fires Maude, the clerk in his flower store, for manifesting sentiment towards the customers by sending them orchids free when they experience trouble. This little drama is cleverly acted by an excellent cast.

"Lima Beans" the marionette play, and third on the program is—Well come and see for yourself and enjoy a whole evening of good dramatics. The place is the high school auditorium, the time is eight fifteen. Doors open at seven forty-five. The admission is fifty cents.

Waverly novels before the age of four. She said that her sister stated that it seemed as if "a great cloud" were hanging over her all of her life." She mentioned two incidents of her sister life, one when a big theater fire had occurred at West Palm Beach and her sister spoke of having received a message "your turn will come next" and another incident following her brother's death when her sister had gone to sit on his grave at midnight.

George W. Smith, assistant post master under Miss Clarke at West Palm Beach was the first witness called by the defense at the convening of court this morning. He testified that Miss Clarke seemed to lose all interest in life after her brother's death and that she told him that she had often communicated with her dead brother's spirit. Other peculiarities had convinced him, he said, that the post mistress was not of sound mind. Asked by the state's attorney on cross examination why he had not reported Miss Clarke as a person of unsound mind to the postal authorities he said that to report her would have been insubordination and added that the inspectors who visited the West Palm Beach post office had known of her peculiarities.

One peculiarity, he noticed, was her tendency to replace two cent stamps on letters with 50 cent stamps because she did not like the color of the stamps of the smaller denominations.

Eight witnesses were called to the stand by the defense during the seventh day of the trial to testify as to their opinion regarding her sanity of the defendant. The testimony of the seven witnesses was a chain of corroborative testimony declaring that Miss Clarke was insane.
